1. Context

- a. The Governing Body is committed to the provision of Relationships and Sex and Education (RSE) based on the encouragement of social, emotional and moral considerations and with due regard for the value of family life. Documents that inform the school's RSE policy include:
 - Education Act (1996)
 - Learning and Skills Act (2000)
 - Education and Inspections Act (2006)
 - Equality Act (2010)
 - Supplementary Guidance SRE for the 21st century (2014)
 - Keeping children safe in education – Statutory safeguarding guidance (2016)
 - Children and Social Work Act (2017)
 - Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education (RSE) and Health Education Draft statutory guidance (February 2019)
- b. This policy should be considered alongside the School's Child Protection and Safeguarding policy and the SMSC policy.

2. Meaning

- a. RSE is about physical, moral and emotional development. It emphasises the importance of stable and loving relationships, respect for self and others, love and care, diversity and personal identity. It is also about the consideration of sexual activity and sexual health against a background of respect for family life. It provides knowledge and skills which are intended to help students manage a healthy lifestyle including the reduction of harm to self and others. RSE helps students to learn to respect themselves and others and move with confidence from childhood through adolescence into adulthood.
- b. The School has a commitment to ensuring that the programme is relevant to and inclusive of all students and is taught in a way that is age and stage appropriate. Delivery of RSE will be differentiated where necessary to address the needs of students, for example students with learning, emotional or behavioural difficulties or physical disabilities (SEND).

3. Provision

- a. The RSE programme of study is designed by the lead teacher of Personal, Social and Health Education (PSHE) and includes coverage by Science, PSHE and RE teachers. Representatives of relevant external agencies may also be involved in delivering the programme.
- b. The aim of RSE is to provide factual information about human reproduction, together with consideration of the broader emotional, ethical, religious, social and moral dimensions of sexual health. Students are encouraged to respect each other's views and different approaches to sexual orientation. programme supports family commitment, respect of marriage and different types of family structure, and acceptance of different approaches.
- c. Across all Key Stages, pupils will be supported in developing:
 - communication skills, including how to manage changing relationships and emotions;
 - the ability to manage conflict;
 - positive values and a moral framework that will guide their decisions, judgements and behaviour;
 - skills to recognise and assess potential risks, on and off line including sharing content, the impact of viewing harmful content, and understanding that sharing and viewing indecent images of children (including those created by children) is a criminal offence;
 - recognition of abusive and exploitative relationships;
 - understanding consent, when 'no' means no and the law;
 - assertiveness, confidence and self-esteem;
 - respect for themselves and others, their views, backgrounds, cultures and experiences;

- confidence to challenge discrimination based on sexual orientation and gender and address sexist or homophobic bullying;
 - basic first aid and life-saving skills;
 - a healthy lifestyle, value, care and respect for their bodies; including dental/oral health, good sleep habits, healthy eating and the importance of physical exercise for physical and mental wellbeing and happiness;
 - recognition of the early signs of mental wellbeing concerns including common types of mental ill health (e.g. anxiety and depression);
 - knowledge and understanding about puberty, menstruation, reproduction and sexuality
 - understanding and skills needed to maintain their sexual health;
 - knowledge of how the different sexually transmitted infections (STIs), including HIV/AIDS, are transmitted, how risk can be reduced through safer sex (including through condom use) and the importance of and facts about testing;
 - knowledge of the facts and laws relating to legal and illegal drugs and their associated risks, including alcohol and tobacco, and the physical and psychological consequences of addiction;
 - awareness of how RSE links with issues of peer pressure and risk-taking behaviour, such as drugs, smoking and alcohol;
 - a clear understanding of the arguments for delaying sexual activity and resisting pressure;
 - understanding of the value of marriage, civil partnerships, stable relationships and family life as a positive environment for bringing up children;
 - understanding the facts around pregnancy, including miscarriage, the full range of contraceptive choices, efficacy and options available;
 - awareness that there are choices in relation to pregnancy (with medically and legally accurate, impartial information on all options, including keeping the baby, adoption, abortion and where to get further help);
 - understanding the concepts of, and laws relating to, sexual consent, sexual exploitation, abuse, grooming, coercion, harassment, rape, domestic abuse, forced marriage, honour-based violence and FGM, and how these can affect current and future relationships;
 - understanding of the potential impact of the porn industry on young people's self-esteem and understanding of fact and fiction;
 - understanding the facts and science relating to blood, organ and stem cell donation, immunisation and vaccination;
 - knowledge on how and when to seek help and support.
- b. Pupils are expected to engage fully in RSE and treat others with respect and sensitivity in RSE lessons. We encourage students and teachers to share and respect each other's views and generate an atmosphere where questions and discussion on relationship and sexual matters can take place without any stigma or embarrassment.
- c. An overview of the learning in each year group is published on the school website.

4. Safeguarding Children

- a. This policy complies with the Child Protection and Safeguarding Policies adopted by the School.
- b. Staff cannot offer unconditional confidentiality to students. We will reassure students that staff will act in their best interests and that this may involve sharing information if there is risk of harm. Students will be told if information is to be shared and will be offered appropriate support.

5. Parents

- a. Parents and carers have an important role in RSE through instilling values, providing a framework for relationships and arranging structures for support. We recognise that many students would prefer to receive information about RSE from their parents or carers. We provide supportive information on the RSE topics and access to accurate information, resources and advice via the school website or on request.

- b. This RSE policy is made available to parents. Under the 1996 Education Act, parents have the right to withdraw their children from part or all of non-National Curriculum RSE i.e. the significant proportion which falls outside the Science curriculum.
- c. Parents wishing to withdraw their children from PSHE lessons when RSE is being considered are asked to contact the Headteacher in writing. Alternative arrangements for children withdrawn will be made in accordance with the standard practice for students unable to attend other lessons or trips.
- d. In accordance with the February 2019 government guidance, from Sept 2020, the school will respect the parents' request to withdraw their child, up to and until three terms before the child turns 16. After that point, if the child wishes to receive sex education rather than be withdrawn, the school will make arrangements to provide the child with sex education during one of those terms.
- e. A parent's choice to withdraw a child from RSE does not affect the child's right to use confidential health services provided at school or elsewhere.

6. Monitoring and Evaluation

- a. The RSE programme of study is monitored by the lead teacher of Personal, Social & Health Education (PSHE) and appropriate members of senior staff. The nominated RSE governor also has some responsibility for compliance with national requirements. The School carries out an annual self- evaluation of RSE which includes the use of Student Voice to review and tailor the RSE programme to match the needs of students.
